Kansas and the Union Practically, the Kansas difficulty amounts to little or nothing, if we exclude principle from the consideration, and are regardless of what precedent we establish But if principle be regarded as worthy of attention, it we seek to avoid the establishment of a dangerous precedent, then Kansas still amounts to a good deal.

The much-talked-of English bill accepted Kansas with the Lecompton Constitution, but refused to agree to give the amount of land demanded by the new State as the condition of her waiver of any claim to tax United States lands, or other property within her borders .-Congress offered her admission with the amount of lands given to other new States. If she chose to come in so she might do so. If not, she must wait her turn, until the census of her population should prove her possession of the requisite population to entitle her to a member of Why, practically speaking, so far as Kansas is concerned, the question may be considered settled, arises from the fact that no constitution can be framed and presented to Congress, as a preliminary step to the admission of Kansas, during the coming short session .-With the influx of population, occasioned by the gold master at Raleigh, vice Wm. White, Esq., whose comdiscoveries on the South Platte, it is evident that by the close of 1859, when admission will really come up, the conditions of the English Bill in regard to population will be fully complied with.

But all that amounts to little-be the time long or short before Kansas comes in, when in does come it will be as a free State. That we think is conceded. The real matter involved now is, whether faith is to be kept between the different sections of the Union-whether pledges are of any value, whether principles affirmed by months which terminated on the 30th ultimo there were the Supreme Court and not denied by any true Demo- found 2,729 letters which contained money, amounting da, to the 25th, contain the following additional news: crat are to be acknowledged in the letter but trampled in the aggregate to $12,921 82. For the quarter which no trouble-Kansas would now be in the Union with the Lecompton Constitution. But this was not the case, and of cash has been restored to the original owners. the best was done that could be done. It was an integral part of the compromise, it was inserted in it as such that if Kansas should fail to accept the offer then made to MESSRS. FULTON & PRICE: her, she should be required to wait until she could show a sufficient population to entitle her to a member. Al the other parts of the "settlement" have been complied with, and yet there are not wanting Northern men who voted for it, but who now deny any obligation to redeem the pledge which they thereby gave ;-they contend that no bill of this kind can bar the future action of Congress, or prevent its admitting Kansas at any time, with or without the requisite population. Perhaps they are legally right, but the morality of such dodging and want of faith would be difficult to characterize, as would also the cool effrontry of Mr. Douglas' argument that a territory, though bound to acknowledge the rights of prois in direct conflict with the decision of the Supreme Court which Mr. Douglas professes to uphold.

We were more than a little surprised by a communication in the Herald of Saturday, from Asa A. the office of Clerk of the U. S. District Court here .-The office, we understand, amounts to very little in the indignation which Mr. Brown imagines. Mr. Brown ought to be too old a politician to complain of the fortune of war; and is too ardent and uncompromising a partizan bimself to expect immunity from the usual fate. His unfavorable opinion of Judge Biggs is, if we mis take not, of rather old standing; but still, the Judge has survived, and will probably continue to do so. That a Democratic Judge should prefer to have a Democratic than that an Opposition Judge should always seek his appointees from the ranks of the Opposition, as Mr. B. knows to have been the case.

We are all tired of personal asperities, and, we presume, the public can take little interest in the private griefs of any gentleman, and still less in any remarks that we might offer in reply. Of all the things in the wide world the afflictions of disappointed office seekers or removed office holders receive the least sympathy from the public, however deeply and sincerely the particular individuals may realize their own supposed wrongs. We cannot but wonder that Mr. Brown's good sense and knowledge of life had not suggested these reflections to him, and thus prevented his making an expose which might lead a stranger to do injustice to both.

NOT A BAD OPERATION.—The amount of prize mon ey for the capture of the Africans of the Echo, by Lieut Maffit and the officers and crew of the Dolphin is $7,600. According to law this sum is to be distributed as fol lows: The flag officer receives one twentieth, the commanding officer of the Dolphin two-twentieths, and the officers and crew of the Dolphin get the remainder, according to rank and rate. When the Echo has been condemned and sold, one half of the proceeds will go to the naval pension fund, the other half will be distributed among the officers and crew of the Dolphin, according to the same rule by which the per capita prize money is try that the prolonged existence of yellow fever, and the distributed. It is doubted whether the flag officer (Commodore McIntosh) is entitled to one-twentieth, as he was absent, on leave, from his station at the time of and disappearance of the epidemic. the capture. Lieutenant Maffit's share of the per capita will amount to $760, which will not be hard to take.

Our readers may remember that in 1855, two brothers, named Everett, taking offense at some remark of Patrick McGowan, a mail agent on the Raleigh & Gaston Road, made a joint attack upon McGowan, at Weldon, beating him unmercifully, so much so, indeed, that his life was despaired of. McGowan sued for damages, claiming $10,000. After almost interminable delays the case was tried at the Superior Court for Wake Co. held this week at Raleigh, Judge Caldwell on the bench. The jury after being out an hour and a half, came in with a verdict of five hundred dollars damages. We presume the suit, lingering for over three years has already cost McGowan every cent of this and more too.

Caricatures.—The South Carolina papers are commenting with deserved severity upon a disgraceful caricature of some of the leading men of that State, which has lately made its appearance. It is directed, we presume, at Messrs. Orr, Bonham and some others, and the inuendo is that their support of the administration is equivalent to selling the State to nationalism.

The Columbia Carolinian and Edgefield Advertiser properly characterize this mode of warfare as low and disgraceful—unworthy of the political character of South Carolina, or of any other Southern State.
